Friday, October 20, 2017
12:00 noon to 1:00 pm

This workshop will cover the use of two coaching strategies – the “Wheel of Life” and “Coaching on the Line” to assist clients with making career choices. Attendees will learn how to utilize both of these tools as well as their application to assist a client with a career choice. These tools have multiple uses with high school students and adults in any setting. Using them creates an interactive approach that allows clients to become actively involved in the decision process and to move past blocks they may have to making decisions. They facilitate the client to evaluate various career options as well as visualize what it would be like to move forward with a decision.
